

Sustainable Flooring Workshop

April 12th, 2012

10:00 a.m. – 11:30 a.m.

Chinook Building - Rooms 121/123

401 5th Ave, 1st Floor

Seattle, WA 98104

Find out how you can take advantage of a national, competitively bid, flooring contract that offers environmentally preferable flooring products and services, including removal and recycling.

Thanks to the lead agency, City of Seattle, there is now a national flooring contract available for public agencies to use through US Communities, a nonprofit purchasing cooperative. During this workshop, you will learn the details of the contract, awarded to Empire Today. Topics will include environmentally preferable flooring products, installation services, and recycling opportunities. The City of Seattle and King County currently have contracts with Empire Today that are ready to use and other public agencies have the opportunity to take advantage of this contract today.

The Empire Today contract offers:

- ✓ Ease of use – competitively bid and awarded
- ✓ Local service
- ✓ Consultation
- ✓ Range of Products – carpet, resilient flooring, wood, ceramic, etc
- ✓ Installation services
- ✓ Removal and recycling
- ✓ Ability to meet LEED goals
- ✓ Cost savings examples

EMPIRE TODAY[®] Carpet & Flooring

Sustainable products available on contract meet various standards and certifications, addressing:

- Recycled content
- Indoor air quality
- Low-emitting materials
- LEED credits
- Lifecycle

The workshop offers the opportunity to meet representatives from Empire Today, ask questions, and view samples from many of the manufacturers' products that they carry.

Featured Speaker: Michael Hill, Director of Commercial Sales and US Communities Program Manager, Empire Today

Contacts: Karen Hamilton, King County, karen.hamilton@kingcounty.gov, (206)263-9294
Shirli Axelrod, City of Seattle, shirli.axelrod@seattle.gov, (206) 684-7804